Better Planet

Air. Water. Natural resources. These are things we all share. We want to do our part to make sure we can keep doing so for a long, long time.

Reducing Greenhouse Gas Emissions

- By repurposing or recycling what used to be thought of as waste into 'by-products', we've avoided more than 102,000 metric tons of Greenhouse Gas emissions from landfills.¹

Packaging Smarter

- Many foodservice products are packed in steel cans, not only because it ensures that we're delivering a safe, quality product but also because steel packaging is infinitely recyclable.

Managing Water Resources

- More than 38 percent of the water we use in our facilities is recycled and used for irrigation at neighboring farms¹, returning a significant portion of the water to beneficial agricultural use.

Reducing Solid Waste

- In FY16, more than 80 percent of solid waste generated from our facilities was diverted to more beneficial use through recycling, donations to feed people, use as animal feed, energy generation or land applications as a soil amendment.¹

² PET coating eliminates the need for solvent-based interior lining, significantly reducing carbon emissions. Finished cans have no welded side seams, eliminating the need for copper or water during manufacturing and reducing corrosion and rust.

³ Refers to total tomato production for Oakdale, Calif., facility.

PAM® and Reddi-wip® feature a two-piece can that uses less energy and materials to produce,² can lining produced without BPA, resulting in a more than 10% lighter than prior can.

Wesson® Oils Bag-In-Box packaging not only offers a smaller footprint on the shelf and easier handling than the standard Jug-In-Box, it breaks down completely for disposal, reducing the amount of dumpster space.

Swiss Miss® hot cocoa mix & pudding is made with farm-fresh dairy from a network of dairy farms located less than 100 miles from our Menomonie, Wis., facility.

Our tomato growers in California, where nearly 95 percent of the U.S. tomatoes are grown, have installed drip irrigation systems on 91 percent of the contracted acres.¹

Reclaiming water that is removed from tomatoes during processing allows us to conserve nearly 56 million gallons per year,³ reducing our reliance on California's limited water supply.
